

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

A recording apparatus, and so forth, capable of outputting at high speed is provided. Second recording data that are stored
5 in a memory based on data obtained by a data obtaining section are transferred to a data generator via a second transfer path, and based on the second recording data that have been transferred, the data generator generates first recording data for performing recording on a medium.